

Texas abortion case fuels Flock cameras controversy as police use AI to write report

Source: TOI_Top_Stories

A Texas sheriff's office utilized Flock's camera network to locate a woman after an abortion. Axon's Draft One AI tool also assisted in preparing the police report for this incident. The officer searched for the woman's vehicle using Flock and a credit card database. The AI tool summarized discussions about legal implications of the self-administered abortion. Police records indicate additional digital evidence exists from the investigation.