

Microsoft donated 22.5 acres in Atlanta; city begins next phase for 20,000 homes

Source: TOI_Top_Stories

Microsoft donated land in Atlanta for affordable housing initiatives. This donation supports Mayor Andre Dickens' goal of twenty thousand housing units. A community celebration will mark the land donation and future plans. The Quarry Yards property will focus on community development and resident opportunities. This project advances a shared vision for strengthening local communities.